

About Outlook 2007 E-Mail Signatures

Outlook 2007 e-mail signatures help you create a brief description of yourself for the benefit of those you correspond with. This is particularly useful if you do cross-team work with people who are not familiar with you or what you do. E-mail signatures are also helpful when you want to display your contact information at the end of each e-mail message.

Topics in this guide:

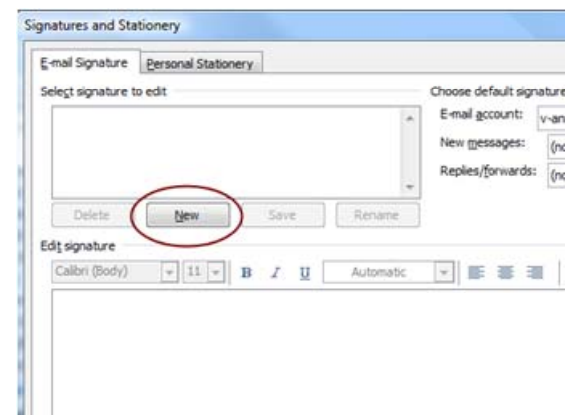

- Create a Signature
- Signature Tips

Create a Signature

Create an e-mail signature to help others identify who you are and what team or project you represent.

- 1 On the Outlook 2007 Tools menu, click Options.
- 2 In the Options dialog box, click the Mail Format tab.
- 3 In the Signatures section, click Signatures.
- 4 In the Signatures and Stationery dialog box, ensure the E-mail Signature tab is selected.

- 5 In the Select signature to edit section, click New.

- 6 In the New Signature window, type a name for the signature, and then click OK.

- 7 In the Edit signature section, type your signature. Use the font and formatting tools to create the signature style you want.

8 In the Choose default signature section, choose a signature for New messages, and then click OK.

9 In the Options dialog box, click OK.

Note The creation of a personal stationery style has been enhanced with Outlook 2007. You can personalize your e-mail messages in the Personal Stationery tab.

Signature Tips

The following tips will help you create and use an effective signature:

- Maintain a professional look and feel for your signature. Do not use flashy colors, graphics, or animation effects.
- Keep your signature short and to the point.
- Use a 10-point or smaller font.
- Do not use signatures on replies and forwarded messages.